NSAV APPOINTS FORMER IBM AND SUN MICROSYSTEM'S MR. STANLEY YU, SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT OF TECHNOLOGY

London, England, Aug. 16, 2021 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE)

-- Net Savings Link, Inc. (OTC PINK: NSAV), a cryptocurrency, blockchain and digital asset technology company, today announced that it plans to launch a Decentralized Cryptocurrency Exchange (DEX) and have it fully operational and trading within the next 45 to 60 days. As with its Centralized Cryptocurrency Exchange (www.nsavexchange.com), the Company will own 100% of the exchange and it will also carry the NSAV brand name. With the launch of its DEX, this would give NSAV two cryptocurrency exchanges.

NSAV also announced that it is in negotiations on several Artificial Intelligence (AI) projects. The management believes in the chemistry between blockchain and AI and to that end, has onboarded a new Senior Vice President of Technology, Stanley Yu, in order to bolster its technology department. Stanley has over 30 years of senior corporate management experience. Stanley spent 10 years in senior technical and management roles at IBM research labs and SUN Microsystems. Stanley is also a partner at leading investment banking firm Silverbear Capital Inc.

Silverbear Capital Inc. <https://www.sbcfinancialgroup.com.hk/>, a leading, global investment banking firm, will be advising NSAV on strategic matters relating to the Company's cryptocurrency exchanges. Silverbear will also help guide NSAV in ensuring that its exchange is continually in compliance, given the
